

Ole' Joe Mather's Helper Ladybug

Ladybugs are helpful and nice to look at. Ole' Joe Mather's biggest helper could have been a ladybug. Make a ladybug. (Ask an adult to help you.) Here's how . . .

You will need ----

1. A medium size pebble. (A medium size pebble will cover the palm of your hand.)
2. Markers or waterpaint
Red and black colors will work best.
3. Quick drying glue
4. Two googly eyes
5. Dishwashing soap
6. Some old towels to cover the work area

Let's Get Started----

1. Begin this project by washing the pebble in dishwashing soap and warm water. Rinse the pebble in clean, warm water.
2. Lay out the towels in your work area. Place the pebble on the towels to dry.
3. Using the color markers or paint, paint the entire pebble red, then add black spots and maybe a smiley face.
4. Glue on googly eyes.
5. Let your ladybug dry on the towels to complete the project.
6. Now, you have a ladybug for your bug catcher.
